Hiring Committee

The Centrum for Tropical and Infectious Diseases Research (CTIDR)

Dear Hiring Committee,

I am writing to express my interest in the position of Senior Research Assistant Entomology at the Centrum for Tropical and Infectious Diseases Research (CTIDR). I am a research scientist and data scientist with over 10 years of experience supporting multidisciplinary research through statistical analysis, computational biology, reproducible research, and scientific programming. I hold a First Class Bachelor's degree in Statistics and a Master's degree in Mathematical Sciences, with extensive experience managing large-scale research projects, analysing complex datasets, and translating research findings into practical insights.

I am highly proficient in R, Python, Linux, and modern research workflows, with strong expertise in statistical modelling, data management, quality assurance, geospatial analysis, and reproducible analytical pipelines. My work has involved close collaboration with researchers in public health, epidemiology, genomics, and disease surveillance, including projects on cholera prediction and health data systems. I am also experienced in documenting research methods, developing robust analytical workflows, and communicating scientific findings through reports and publications.

Although my academic background is in statistics and mathematical sciences, I am eager to apply my quantitative and computational expertise to entomological research. I am a fast learner, adaptable to new laboratory and molecular techniques, and willing to undertake extensive fieldwork across Nigeria. I am confident that my research experience, programming skills, and commitment to scientific excellence will enable me to contribute effectively to CTIDR's research on vector-borne diseases.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my skills and experience can contribute to the continued success of CTIDR.

Yours sincerely,

Ezekiel Adebayo Ogundepo
